I've had so many spam mail by making a contact form that I decided to take it offline.

If you would like to contact me, open facebook and type "jurgen roeland belgium" in the search box

There's only one hit and you can add me as friend or send a message there.

Another method is to find me on Vansairforce.net. As a builder Vansairforce.net will be your second home as most of the builders use it as a communication platform to ask questions, share experiences or read how other builders solved a problem. My username there is "jurgenroeland" and you can send direct mails.

Greetings to all of you and I'm looking forward to talk to new buddy builders.
